

CCID

Community Colleges for International Development

The mission of CCID is to provide opportunities for building global relationships that strengthen educational programs, and promote economic development."

To accomplish its mission, CCID provides:

- Technical Training: Develops technical training for economic independence and human resource development in various countries throughout the world
- Economic Development: Supports curriculum development and programs that encourage global understanding.
- Partnerships: Facilitates educational exchanges that result in increased global awareness.
- Leadership: Initiates and coordinates international linkages to advocate the necessity of global partnerships.
- Professional Development: Initiates, facilitates and encourages international relationships that enhance global competencies. Each year they sponsor a faculty development program such as the trip to China in 2001. In 2002, they went to Greece and Turkey. They will go to England in 2003 and Italy in 2004.

For additional information about CCID, see the website at:

<http://ccid.kirkwood.cc.ia.us>.

The website contains additional information about CCID, their calendar of events, CCID resources, and member activities.

If you have further questions about CCID, you may contact the executive director, John Halder: jhalder@kirkwood.cc.ia.us

Site for The China Trip:

<http://www.howardcc.edu/math/Andy/abuller2.htm>